1. INTRODUCTION

Larkfield Housing Association recognises that tenants are central to the success of our business. This strategy is effective for the next 3 years and the Association has set aside a Tenant Participation budget to allow the strategy to be taken forward. In terms of progress, the strategy will be reviewed by the Housing Management and Maintenance Sub Committee and subsequently reported to the Committee of Management to assess the overall effectiveness and any changes that may be required, in consultation with tenants.

To ensure our commitment to Equality, Diversity and Human Rights and meet our regulatory requirements, the Association will continue to work with a wide range of voluntary and statutory groups across Inverclyde and engage and seek their views on a range of issues. We will continue to work with Inverclyde Housing Association Officers Forum and share our experiences on issues affecting tenants across Inverclyde.

2. BACKGROUND

Tenant Participation is about tenants taking part in decision making processes and influencing decisions about housing policies; housing conditions; and housing (and related) services. It is a two-way process which involves the sharing of information, ideas, and power. Its aim is to improve the standard of housing conditions and service.

It is a legal requirement for all Registered Social Landlords (RSLs) to do this as set out in the Housing (Scotland) Act 2001. Tenants have the right to be consulted on:

- The tenant participation strategy
- Rents and service changes
- Changes to policies and service standards relating to housing management, repairs, and maintenance

The Scottish Social Housing Charter was first brought into effect on 1st April 2012 and updated in 2017. The charter was developed by tenants for tenants and sets out the outcomes and standards that Larkfield and all landlords in Scotland are expected to meet and the levels of services tenants should expect from their landlord. The charter covers 16 key areas including participation and communication and provides the basis for the Scottish Housing Regulator to assess and report all social landlords' performance.

The Scottish Housing Regulator expects that Tenants are at the heart of their organisation. How the Association's performance will be monitored every year by the Scottish Housing Regulator and during October every year all tenants are issued with an Annual Report Card on how we have met our 16 outcomes. You can find out more about the Associations performance and compare us to other landlords at <https://www.scottishhousingregulator.gov.uk/landlord-performance>

The charter and the Scottish Housing Regulator require that the Association has arrangements in place to make sure tenants can scrutinise and help us improve our performance and influence decisions about our policies and services. We will set local service standards with you on for example repairs timescales and customer care.

3. Aims and Objectives

The Association's Tenant Participation strategy has 6 main aims:

- To ensure that tenant control and responsiveness to tenant needs are key values running through all the Association's work.
- Comply with tenant participation and consultation statutory requirements set out in the Housing (Scotland) Act 2014.
- To ensure that, wherever possible, tenants can influence decisions and exercise choice over services from the Association, both, individually or in groups.
- Help Larkfield achieve excellent performance towards the outcomes set out in the Scottish Social Housing Charter and support independent tenant scrutiny of Larkfield's performance.
- Consult tenants on locally agreed targets and definitions required by the Annual Return on the Charter
- To encourage active tenant/resident participation, a large representative membership, and a continuing supply of new committee members from within Larkfield to contribute to an effective Housing Management service within the area.

Our strategy aims to provide opportunities for the association to work in partnership with tenants and other service users to help us improve our services. We have a budget to fund our tenant participation activities.

4. How the strategy was developed

Our strategy was jointly developed by the Association and tenants through a working group of tenants and staff, the draft strategy was available for comment on our website and Facebook page. We have a tenant participation action plan created by what tenants said in our participation activities and our satisfaction survey. Tenants' views from events and activities feed into and update our action plan.

Our policy is to commission an independent consultant to carry out a comprehensive customer satisfaction survey every three years. The most recent survey is currently taking place concluding in November 2021. 60% of our tenants were surveyed on a range of housing and tenancy related matters. An action plan to take forward the results from the survey will be developed and will be implemented over the course of the year.

In addition to the full survey, we seek feedback via our new tenant surveys, telephone surveys, tenant open days and community events.

The contributions and ideas from each of the participants contributed to the development of the strategy and the action plan attached at the rear of the report.

5. Benefits of Tenant Participation and Scrutiny

Tenant participation gives tenants and tenant organisations a meaningful role in the decision-making process. It allows tenants to influence the service they receive and improve their community.

There are several advantages to tenant participation:

- Better service delivery and improved outcomes for tenants which give value for money
- Working together for common goals with respect and understanding
- Informed and knowledgeable tenants who have the skills and confidence to influence decisions
- Increased tenant satisfaction with their home and neighbourhood
- Identifying actions for service and performance improvements and working together to implement these recommended improvements
- It helps committee members represent tenants by opening new ways of communicating
- It can benefit the community when people are involved in the running of their homes. Tenants and resident's groups often run social events as well as dealing with housing and related matters

6. Links to other strategies and services

The Association has Tenant Participation at the heart of everything it does. This strategy is incorporated within the Association's Internal Management Plan, Equality and Diversity Policy and day-to-day service delivery. Tenant Participation does not exist in isolation but as an integral part of the way Larkfield Housing Association operates.

7. What Can I Get Involved In

Larkfield Housing Association will use a range of methods to keep tenants informed. The Association will:

- Inform tenants/residents of our work through our quarterly newsletter.
- Consult with tenants each year about the proposed budget and proposed rent increase.

All new tenants will also be issued with a handbook as well as a copy of their Tenancy Agreement and where possible introductory/welcoming meeting with a member of the Committee to explain the Association's work/policies and encourage membership of the Association.
- Hold tenants' meetings or focus groups on an area or block basis as appropriate to inform tenants about major maintenance and repair programmes. Wherever practicable, individual tenants or groups of tenants will be offered choice in items to be prioritised in major maintenance and repair programmes.
- Provide information to tenants and residents in the form of quality leaflets/handouts detailing improvement works etc. within the area. Provide questionnaires or telephone surveys to encourage feedback on these issues.
- Ensure regular updates on the work of the Association are posted on our website and Facebook page for tenants and residents to view.
- Use our complaints procedures to improve service delivery
- consult our tenants on our annual assurance statement

- encourage tenants and residents to become members of Larkfield Housing
- continue to encourage our tenants and residents become committee members of Larkfield Housing

Larkfield Housing Association will provide support for tenant organisations that become registered. This usually consists of a small annual budget to cover administration costs. We will also provide training for your group and free use of rooms for your group to hold meetings
